

Moldova's examination session at the U.N. Human Rights Committee has begun

The 118th session of the U.N. Human Rights Committee began in Geneva on October 17th and will last until November 4th. During the session, the Human Rights Committee will examine the reports of 7 states, including the Republic of Moldova.

On October 18th – 19th 2016, Moldova's implementation of the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights will be reviewed and its national report (CCPR/C/AZE/3) for this reporting period will be examined.

The agenda of the 118th session of the Committee is available here.

The hearings on the Republic of Moldova and its report will begin on October 18th 2016 at 3:00 p.m. (Geneva time) and will continue the next day at 10:00 a.m. (Geneva time) Watch live here.

We note that the Promo-LEX Association already presented its alternative report on the third Periodic Review of the Republic of Moldova to the U.N. Human Rights Committee on September 19th 2016. Its report focused on the implementation of the Covenant's provisions in the Transnistrian region of the Republic of Moldova.

More details about Promo-LEX's findings and recommendations can be found in the Report, available here or here.