

Promo-LEX Association organizes the training course

Training course "Project Management" is a part of the RDCT training program, which aims to foster the growth of the transnistrian region non-governmental sector. The course objective is to provide theoretical support and to improve participants' skills needed for a successful implementation of all project stages.

When: 7-8 February 2009

Where: Cocieri village, Dubasari district.

Who is eligible to participate: representatives of NGOs and initiative groups from the transnistrian region.

Benefits of the training course:

- participants will understand the concept of project management;
- participants will be able to apply project management principles in their activities;
- participants will be able to conduct needs assessment and set project objectives;
- participants will be able to plan and control project resources: human, financial, administrative;
- participants will be able to motivate organization' staff;
- participants will be able to identify and set project manager and team members responsibilities;
- participants will be able to evaluate project results;
- participants will be able to conduct risk management.

All costs related to participation at the training (travel, meals, accommodation) will be covered by the organizers.

Working language of the seminar: Russian.

The deadline for application: February, 1st , 2009, 18:00

Application forms can be requested by email at:
crdt.buletin@gmail.com

The completed applications must be submitted to the same address.

Contact person:

Natalia Gligor

Coordinator of NGO Department, RDCT

tel / fax: 45 00 24

This project is implemented with financial support of National Endowment for Democracy.