

Electoral System Design

Promo-LEX hosted a workshop about electoral systems on the topic “Electoral System Design”. Together with international experts Mette Bakken from Norway and Adrian Sorescu from Romania, journalists in Chisinau, civil servants from public institutions, and representatives of political parties heard about the principal components of designing an electoral system, categories of electoral systems, and the diversity of majoritarian, proportional representation, and mixed systems. At the end, the participants analyzed the criteria for choosing an electoral system, responded to questions about which system is appropriate for Moldova, and learned the steps for carrying out electoral reform.
